New Emerson Student Show

Frame Depot's Featured artists for March

The Frame Depot's March 2015 featured artist group is New Emerson Elementary School comprised of children, kindergarten through fifth grade. An award winning, STEM (science, technology, engineering, math) magnet school, New Emerson is part of Mesa County SD 51 under the leadership of principal, Terry Schmalz.

In its' first year of development, approximately 140 students attend art twice a week for 45 minutes under the guidance of certified art teacher, Diane Hower. Students are introduced to art and art elements used in the creating of work based on the Colorado State Standards for visual arts. Literacy, math, technology, as well as science and social studies are woven into the curriculum where appropriate.

This show is New Emerson's first and a fundraiser for supplies for the art program. All students chose one piece of their work to exhibit and sell to help further their school art community in its' continued growth. The price for the work is a donation of the patron's choice. All profits go to the art program.
